Title Page

The title should be clear, concise and informative followed by the names and affiliations of the authors. Each author must provide their full name including their forenames and surname. The affiliation should comprise the department, institution (usually university or company), city, and state (or nation) and should be typed as a footnote to the author's name. Introduction

Should start on a new page and should clearly indicate the aim of the study. The introduction should not be an extensive review of the literature but should refer only to previous work which has a direct bearing on the topic to be discussed. .

Materials and Methods

The section Materials and Methods should include concise details on the methodology adopted, sufficient to repeat the experiment. Please provide concise but complete information about the material and the analytical, statistical and experimental procedures used. The statistical method and the level of significance chosen should be clearly stated. In case of animal experiments authors must give the details of ethical approval.

All results presented in tabular or graphical form shall be described in this section. Should contain a critical review of the results of the study with the support of relevant literature. Discussion should relate the results to current understanding of the scientific problems being investigated in the field.

Conclusion

In a separate section, the major findings of the study and their usefulness shall be summarized. This paragraph should address the main conclusions of the work highlighting its importance and relevance.

Acknowledgements

All acknowledgments should be typed in one paragraph directly preceding the reference section and may include supporting grants, presentations, and so forth.

*Values are expressed as mean±SEM (Standard Error Mean); * indicates P < 0.001, one-way ANOVA followed by Dunnet's test as compared to control; n = Number of mice; p.o.: per oral.*

Figures

Figures (photographs, drawings, diagrams and charts) are to be numbered in one consecutive series of the Arabic numerals in the order in which they are cited in the text and abbreviated as Fig.X. Photos or drawings must have a good contrast of dark and light. Legends of figures should be brief, but complete and self-explanatory so that the reader can easily understand the results presented in the figure. .

Abbreviations

Standard abbreviations should be used throughout the manuscript. All nonstandard abbreviations should be kept to a minimum and must be defined in the text following their first use.

Short Communication

The journal publishes exciting findings, preliminary data or studies that did not yield enough information to make a full paper as short communications. These have the same format requirements as full papers but are only up to 9 pages in length. Short Communications should not have subtitles such as Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results and Discussion - all these have to be merged into the running text. Short Communications preferably should have only 3-4 illustrations.

Review Articles

Should be about 18 pages long, contain up-to-date information, comprehensively cover relevant literature and preferably be written by scientists who have in-depth knowledge on the topic. All format requirements are same as those applicable to full papers. Review articles need not be divided into sections such as Materials and Methods and Results and Discussion, but should definitely have an Abstract and Introduction, if necessary.
